One of a kind, one at a time has never been more true...

Seemingly miles, yet minutes away lies a neighborhood fifty years in the making. Located between Linville and Banner Elk in the heart of the High Country is Tynecastle, a village of Scottish descent. Within its gates time stands still, storied stone cottages and a castle blend into and inspire our newer homes. Stars and fireflies compete in nature's own nightly fireworks. Deer and turkey graze at wood's edge as hawks soar above. With 84 home sites nestled on 500 acres, Tynecastle is not only the best kept secret in the mountains, it is truly living for the few.

At the foot of Grandfather Mountain, carved out of 20 private acres reserved for Tynecastle's founder, Wyncall is a 5000 sq ft timber frame unique to its site and influence. With its distressed and weathered frame, heated stone floor, clay finished walls, dueling fireplaces, stone tub, and frescoes, no detail has been overlooked. Reclaimed chestnut and hardwoods hide all the modern luxuries one expects and accent unexpected amenities reserved for your favorite pair of slippers.

Watch the construction unfold through the progressive virtual tour on our web site. Beginning with the wooded site, you can watch us turn this Tynecastle site into Wyncall, our 2009 spec home. Completion is expected to be Memorial Day, 2009. We look forward to sharing the journey with you. If you find yourself in the mountains, come by for a visit and see what we're up to.

{ The philosophy of Tynecastle Builders is "one of a kind, one at a time." Each home is meticulously crafted one at a time with an emphasis on detail, uniqueness, and visual impact that truly make it one of a kind. }
